Dear Mr. Prasidh

Now it is nearly one month since Mrs. Pringsheim returned to Tokyo from her world tour, and I must apologize that it is only today I find time to write you this note and thank you for ~~all~~ the kindness you showed her during her visit. It is unfortunate that she had no time to stay longer in Bangkok because of the rather inconvenient plane schedule.

I must also apologize to you for the inconvenience my wife has caused you as she ran out of money, and truly appreciate your kindness in helping her out. She did not know exactly the amount she borrowed from you, so I am sending you today a check for $10; ~~may~~ please let me know in case this is less than what we owe you.

There is a possibility that I might visit Europe some time next year and of course I hope then to go to Bangkok too, if at all possible, and naturally am looking forward very much to seeing you then. But I also hope you will have an opportunity to visit Japan soon again.

Today please accept again my sincere thanks, apologies, and best regards, also to Mrs. Prasidh,

Yours sincerely,
Hans E. Pringsheim
